

Intrepid

A game of international spies and espionage, where the object of the game is to break into the embassy's guarded vault and recover stolen secret plans. You must avoid the red guards as you search for items to help you in your mission.

Hell the items you find are absolutely necessary for a successful mission. Points are awarded for each item that is picked up. Bonus points for opening the vault and completing the mission before the time runs out. Sabotage the elevator with guards trapped inside to be awarded points and to make escape easier.

Don't fall down the elevator shaft, get caught by the guards, or let the sentry at the safe see you.

If you jump off the building before you have managed to open the safe but after you have sabotaged the elevator, there is no possibility of re-entering the embassy. In this case, the bonus timer rapidly decreases to zero and you lose your agent.

After each successful mission, you are given a more difficult mission, with more efficient guards.
